Blackboard style price tickets are popular for greengrocers and florists - and they also work well for craft stalls, charity shops and many other places where easy to use hand written price labels are acceptable. They are not suitable for use with stick chalk but work really well with chalk pens - white or any other light colour.

Important NOTES

Chalk cards can be erased as follows:

Posterman or other water resistant pen - erase with Securit Cleaner (and certain household cleaning products).

Illumigraph and other wet wipe pens - can additionally be erased with a damp cloth.

After correct cleaning there is usually little, if any, residual shadow left by pens but writing left on the plastic for a long time can be harder to erase and after repeated cycles the surface may deteriorate and the card require replacement.

Chalk cards are NOT intended for use with real chalk. They are not true blackboards but they can be used to give a blackboard effect. A7 size can be used frameless when used with the correct clip.

Chalk cards are a consumable item with a limited life.
