More Information

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Noteplexx comprises a clear PVC foil with adhesive strips at top and bottom, The A4 sheet of paper (or two sheets when used back-to-back) fit between the strips. The overall height of the product is therefore greater than A4. A protective film covers the strips during shipping which should be removed before use.

The term pocket conveys that the paper is sandwiched between the Noteplexx and the surface to which it is adhered. Notplexx is a single sheet product and does not have a backing. So when applied to glass the paper will be in contact with the glass. When applied to single-glazed external windows the paper sign may be subject to damage from condensation under some conditions. While Noteplexx sticks well to many different surfaces there are some points to consider:

- The surface must be clean, dry and homogenous – surfaces such as concrete need to be painted or otherwise sealed in order to provide a coherent surface at microscopic level to enable the nano adhesive to grip.

The same would apply to MDF surfaces.

- Before committing to a large scale project please test the Noteplexx performance in the intended situation over a few days as we cannot guarantee that the self cling properties will work universally (for instance anti-graffiti paints are formulated specifically to reduce adhesion). 'Greasy' environments like chip shops might also present problems.

- In sunlight (for example when used inside shop windows) the effects of UV radiation are likely to make the PVC yellow over time and possibly become brittle.

The product is quite new and long term testing to establish the life of the product is still underway.

- Whilst we have found in tests that the product can be removed without leaving sticky residue there can be some discolouration of paintwork. Whilst made in good faith, we cannot offer a warranty about our statement that Noteplexx can be removed without damaging the underlying surface. We therefore suggest that you refrain from using the product on wallpaper or similar fragile surfaces which cannot easily be 'touched up'.
