More Information

Why are Pixquick curved door sign holders relatively expensive?

Quite simply this prestige office wall signage is made from the highest grade of crystal clear polycarbonate, this means that they outlast most other office signage systems and still look exceptional years after less expensive door signs have either broken or lost their shine.

Reasons to buy the Pixquick sign system

In certain industries image is everything, you've just spent a fortune on nice desks, artwork, and computer equipment everything that says to your client you are a progressive forward-thinking company with aesthetically pleasing surroundings. Now is not the time to spoil that image with a mismatch of different signs. Pixquick is a full signage system from the mini that you might sign the stationary or janitor's storeroom through to the impressive A3 for the conference suite or boardroom. You can now create an impressive signage flow throughout your establishment at every step giving your client the feeling that you are a quality business. This Pixquick signage system can be seen in many corporate headquarters where cost is less important than image.

Things to consider when fitting the PixQuick system

We humans like to know where we are going and that we are in the right place, with careful consideration for the rest of the furniture in the area where the signage will be fitted, determine a height and position relative to which way a door opens and be consistent. People quickly understand where to look if the signage is fitted in a uniform fashion.

Pixquick Sizes and Orientation
Each size is naturally portrait or landscape (as specified below) but can be turned through 90 degrees when positioning so as to hinge from the top rather than the side.

Note: Inch sizes are approximate only
